

FROM THE PARISH PRIEST

Righteous indignation is something with which we are probably reasonably familiar. I encourage it of baptism families when we proclaim our faith in God! We have many forums on which we ourselves can have a rant - and can equally hear or see others voicing such frustration. Twitter and Facebook, news channels and print media, even a quiet drink in the local give us all the opportunity to vent.

And vent we do! We are passionate people. It's frustrating when people don't clear up after their dogs. Or park in our parking spaces. Or damage things, or rifle through the jumble, or act carelessly etc etc etc.

We are familiar with righteous indignation - and on the whole, expressing it is a healthy thing to do. To bottle up is to store up frustration that will come out at some point.

So - we understand Jesus in the temple expressing such emotion. Or do we?

Jesus' righteous indignation is aimed at something which is, for him, a matter of faith. More than that - a matter of salvation. It's not that the money changers are doing business in the Temple - it's that they are profiteering from the forgiveness and love of God. His passion is clear to see - writ large in his actions.

Lent is a good time to consider our own passion when it comes to our Father's house and what we do here. How is that passion expressed? Let's get to the point Jesus gets to; that our passion too might be writ clear in all we do and all we give - and perhaps we might give some consideration to the tables that should be overturned in our own temples, in our own lives.

COLLECT OF THE DAY

Lord our God,
by your Holy Spirit write your

that, cleansed from greed and selfishness, we may become a living temple of your love; through Jesus Christ our Lord.
